FeONIC signs agency agreement with Techtonic Architectural Solutions to target
Middle East construction industry

FeONIC Plc ("FeONIC" or "the Company"), the innovative UK audio technology company, is pleased to announce the signing of an agency agreement with architectural solutions specialists, Techtonic Architectural Solutions ("Techtonic"), based in Jordan.

Under the terms of the agreement, Techtonic has been appointed as a selling agent for FeONIC audio products to the construction markets in Jordan, Syria, Lebanon, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Qatar, Bahrain, United Arab Emirates, Oman, Kuwait, Egypt and Libya. In particular, the license states that FeONIC products are to be used as the audio source in paneling products and construction materials supplied by Techtonic to major construction projects within their Middle Eastern territory.

Brenda Hopkins, chairman of FeONIC, commented:

"The Middle East construction market is showing itself to be far more robust than its western counterparts in current times. Techtonic has an impressive network both in the Middle East and with the major architectural houses in Europe. We are delighted to be entering into the agreement with them."

FeONIC's unique audio drive technology has the ability to transform a wide range of surfaces and structures into high quality loudspeakers with omni-directional, evenly distributed output. This can allow high quality sound systems to be effectively fully integrated into a building's structure without it compromising the design of the building.

Tamer Qaqish, director of Techtonic, added:

"For buildings of the 21st century, FeONIC technology is increasingly less of a value added item but an essential - it addressing both functional and aesthetic aspects in one. We are delighted to be representing FeONIC's product range in the region."
